Art Unit: 2827

Applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention drawn to a process; therefore, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 1-7 are withdrawn from further consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

In view of the amendment filed 8-5-2, the allowability of claims 8-10 is herein withdrawn.

In the rejections infra, reference labels are generally recited only for the first recitation of identical claim language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary.

Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combination of Levy (5869353) and Sahara (4764804).

At column 4, line 8 to column 8, line 21, Levy teaches the following:

8. A multilayer semiconductor device manufacturing method using an assembly jig for mutually restricting positions of a plurality of semiconductor modules each including a semiconductor chip mounted on a thin printed-wiring board comprising the steps of: serially layering the semiconductor modules 32, 34 on a base member 68 with respective lateral positions restricted by a lateral position restriction mechanism 70 and placing said assembly jig with an entire height of said layered modules restricted by said height restriction mechanism, supplying said assembly jig into a reflow furnace, applying reflow heating to melt solder and for thereby forming interlayer connection among said semiconductor modules, and thus forming a layered semiconductor module unit; and mounting said layered semiconductor module unit on a mother substrate 74 by using a top-layer semiconductor module as a junction module.

9. The multilayer semiconductor device manufacturing method according to 8, further comprising a step of providing said assembly jig with an alignment mechanism 70 for aligning said layered semiconductor module unit against said mother substrate.

However, Levy does not appear to explicitly teach solder bumps and the following:

10. The multilayer semiconductor device manufacturing method according to 8 further comprising the step of: forming a bump on each of connection lands and dummy lands of printed wiring board for each semiconductor module.

Nonetheless, at column 1, lines 37-53, column 3, lines 32-36, and column 4, lines 61-68, Sahara teaches forming a bump 8, 9, on each of connection lands 10 and dummy lands 12, respectively. Moreover, it would have been obvious to combine the process of Sahara with the process of Levy because it would enable interlayer connection and heat dissipation.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

The art made of record and not applied to the rejection is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. It is cited primarily to show inventions similar to the instant invention.
